

When you're consuming an ocean of diesel fuel every day - these vehicles are life savers!

Guaranteeing the delivery of hundreds of thousands of litres of fuel per day, across some of the most inhospitable and rugged terrain found anywhere in the world is no casual stroll in the park.

Transporting that fuel safely through monsoon rains, landslides and road collapses in a region with minimal infrastructure or modern day communications is certainly not for the faint hearted either.

To ensure our advanced fleet of 35 Kenworth based prime movers, tankers and container platforms stand up to such continual punishment - 24 hours a day, seven days a week, calls upon a level of professionalism, organisation and infrastructure second to none.

For the iPi Group's Mountain Transport - it's all in a day's work, but for clients, consuming oceans of fuel each day and operating in some of the remotest regions of PNG - it's an essential fuel lifeline.

At the iPi Group's Mountain Transport, we understand that fuel delivery is a critical requirement of the mineral and resources industry's operation and efficiency and as such we are proud to have been an integral supporter and key partner of the Porgera Gold Mine since 1997.

But whether we're transporting fuel to remote mine sites or dry goods to isolated coastal communities, iPi's distinctive blue cabs are just a small visible tip of our fully integrated and dynamic logistics organisation.

Based in Lae you'll find our key administrative centre and experienced logistics personnel who keep us running. It's also where you'll find our extensive heavy vehicle maintenance facilities, which provide a total and comprehensive maintenance and repair service from engine and gearbox rebuilds, auto electrics through to complete truck rebuilds.

These facilities are now recognised by Kenworth Australia for service excellence, making Mountain Transport the only licenced Kenworth repair centre in PNG outside the principal Kenworth dealership.

At our fleet re-build depot, day-to-day maintenance and tanker repairs are carried out under our ISO 9001-2000 Quality Assurance Certification fleet control systems. It is the only depot of its type in PNG where total tank repairs and rebuilds can be undertaken and is the only tanker calibration facility in the country that is internationally licensed for vessel pressure testing.

All iPi Mountain Transport drivers undertake mandatory breathalyser testing, participating in an ongoing fatigue management accreditation program whilst also receiving fuel handling, cartage and safety inductions from both Mobil and Shell depots.

iPi Mountain Transport is the only long haul company operating within PNG able to provide full insurance for dangerous goods including petroleum products and the only one to hold Mass Accreditation Certification enabling greater haulage cost efficiencies.

With the iPi Group carrying almost 80% of all fuel on the Highlands Highway and our combined fleet travelling over 2 and half million kms a year – the equivalent of approximately 62 circumnavigations of the globe, we are clearly the most experienced and reliable operator in Papua New Guinea.
